

How to use the Marcellus Snow Cam Interface

STEP #1 Click the "Start Control" button. You will either be placed in a queue (to wait for a turn), or you will be given control of the camera if it's not currently being used by someone else. 	STEP #2 continued Use the right scroll bar to tilt the camera up and down. Use the bottom scroll bar to pan the camera left and right.
This icon means you're in the queue, and shows the time remaining until you control the camera. 	Use the far right scroll bar (with the tree icons) to zoom in (up) for a closeup shot or to zoom out (down) for a wider shot.
This icon means you're in control of the camera, and shows how much time you have left. 	This button takes a picture of the current video image in a new browser window.
STEP #2 Once you have control of the camera, use the drop down menu to navigate to pre-selected camera locations. 	This button toggles between normal lighting and backlit (increased) lighting.
	This button opens a pop-up window with a panoramic image of the entire viewing area. Click and drag mouse (rectangle) over image to view selected area.

*For best results controlling the camera's direction, use your mouse and click on the image. This will center the image on the part of the screen you clicked.

Error Messages

"Couldn't Get Camera Control"

Control of the camera is limited to 20 users waiting for a turn. If you receive this message wait a few minutes and try again.

"Too Many Clients"

This is a rare message but means our connection has reached the maximum number of users. Wait a few minutes and try reloading.

"Can't Connect" or camera box does not load.

This message means our connection is down, rest assured if you see this message we are working to restore the connection as soon as possible.

Trouble Shooting

"I see a Red 'X' or gray box and not the image"

If the pages load but the camera window appears as only a Red 'X' there is a problem with your computer. For more information about Java Technology and solutions, and downloads, visit: <http://www.java.com>

"Disconnected" Message or you lose control while operating the camera

If your internet connection loses contact with the camera (even for a second or two) the text "Disconnected" with display or the camera will pass control on to the next person in line.
